Australia and New Zealand have some of the harshest sun exposure in the world. If you spend time outdoors in summer, a skin check is not optional. It is basic self-care.

Why skin checks matter

UV levels across Australia and New Zealand are high year-round and peak hard in summer. Even short periods outside can cause skin damage. Skin cancer is one of the most common cancers in both countries, but it is also one of the most preventable when caught early.

More than just discounts, built for ongoing engagement

Personalised discovery, content, community and incentives keep employees returning to the platform:

Curated destination for wellbeing
Our personalised 'For You' experience features recommended offers, wellbeing content, resources and challenges all in one place.

Practical wellbeing content
Recipes, how-to-guides and educational articles that support everyday healthy habits.

Participation and community
Initiatives like The Push Up Challenge, STEPtember and more that drive connection and participation.

Ongoing incentives
Competitions and giveaways that keep members coming back.

What our members say

"WHEREFIT has been extremely helpful. I've used many of the offers to help better myself outside of work (e.g. activewear, gym membership, skincare). Working on my physical and mental health has flowed through to my occupation. I feel and think better and therefore work better. This not only benefits me but also my colleagues" – Deborah from ABC

"I've had a great experience using WHEREFIT, especially with the Recovery and Rehab perks! I've definitely saved money, which has made life a lot easier, and I no longer find myself putting off important health treatments" – Jenna from Draeger
